Donated Art Exhibit

Sun Sept 25 at 3 pm

Join us at the Sunday School building of the First Presbyterian Church of Port Kennedy for an exhibit of the art that has been donated to the King of Prussia Historical Society. In some cases, paintings were donated without information about the artist, and we would appreciate any insight you might have.

Location: Sunday School Building, First Presbyterian Church of Port Kennedy

Grave Tales: The Roberts Burial Ground

Sat Oct 29 starting at 6 pm

The Roberts Burial Ground is located on US202 behind the Kehtron Computer store. The land was donated by US Senator Jonathan Roberts for the burial of the poor of all races. Come and hear the stories of those buried in this most interesting of Upper Merion cemeteries. Suggested donation $5 per person or $10 per family.

Location: Behind the Kehtron Computer Store, 260 W DeKalb Pike

Echoes of the Truth: A Chronology of the Tragic Events of 1979 (part 1)

Sun Nov 20 at 3 pm

More than 40 years have passed since that horrific year. At the time, the investigation into events surrounding the murder of Susan Reinert and her missing children took many twists and turns, often proceeding from speculation, which has left many of us with garbled memories of the facts. The King of Prussia Historical Society believes that it is important to document a chronology of the known facts to the best of our ability, while avoiding the sensationalism which some media outlets unfortunately gave in to at the time. We also believe that speculation where it occurs should be clearly labeled as such. It is no doubt an unfortunate part of our history in Upper Merion, but it is a part of our history nevertheless and should be properly documented for the future. Preregistration will be available on our website. We expect space to be limited so preference will be given to members.

Location: To Be Determined.

Scanning Event and Please Touch Museum of Old Technology

Sun Dec 11 at 3 pm

Bring in your old photos and memorabilia for scanning or photographing. Your attic or basement may contain treasured bits of Upper Merion area history! In addition, the Please Touch Museum returns! Type away on an old mechanical typewriter from the 1930s or dial an old phone, or play a record backwards. The King of Prussia Historical Society has a collection of old bits of technology and old toys for kids (and adults!) to play with.

Location: Sunday School Building, First Presbyterian Church of Port Kennedy
